EDITOR'S ETCETERA

The Tennessee Chess News is on the move! Literally! Actually, the move has already occurred. I have relocated across town and have a new address and phone fax/modem number. The information is listed at the back of the issue

In part, the delay in producing the April/May and June/July issues is directly attributable to time and attention I had to devote to finding a new residence, packing, moving, unpacking, and so forth. With this adventure behind me, future issues of the TCN should appear as scheduled.

I have received games from many TCA members from all over the state. I will happily include any and all games and news that you send, but please check your score sheets for accuracy. If you were expecting to see your game in an issue but it is not included, it is most likely that there is an error in recording the moves which I can't work around....

As usual, I want to thank all the people who contributed items for the TCN. It is they who ultimately make it interesting and informative.

Please note that the State Open has been changed to a two-day format. See you there!!

PRESIDENT'S COLUMN

"Why do we need standards, anyway? Our (club, group, etc.) doesn't want to it that way?" All of us have heard this from our fellow chess players at tournaments, club meetings, or just informal meetings over coffee.

It sounds reasonable on the surface, but is it really? How many of us would sit down for a game only to find out that Black moves first at this club and only one bishop will be used per side. Oh, by the way, they must be opposite colored bishops.

I've been at tournaments where there has been disagreements over everything from the published rules for the particular tournament to the cost of the entry fee. I've resisted the temptation to ask the protagonists how they read about the tournament but missed those details. Or if they hadn't missed them, why did they show up if they disagreed so vigorously with them?

All of us resist rules from time to time; that's good. It keeps up growing and thinking. But there have to be some established rules for the game. Each game of chess you play, anywhere in the world, starts with the same number of pieces, the same board, and the same rules. We wouldn't want it any other way. This way we know what to expect. We plan our games according to established rules. It's just like life.

1994 CUMBERLAND COUNTY SUMMER OPEN CHESS TOURNAMENT

(Submitted by Harry Sabine)

Leonard Dickerson of Knoxville won clear first place and $50 for his efforts in the Open section of the 1994 Cumberland County Summer Open Tournament held on July 9th at Fairfield Glade Resort. Leonard knocked off Master Neal Harris of North Carolina on his way to the title. The only blemish on his recordd was a draw with Walter Isbill of Whitwell who took Class A honors with 2.5 points. The Class B prize money was split between Robert Presswood of Cleveland and Ralph Boston of Chattanooga.

The Amateur Seciton was won by Billy Ware of Maryville who defeated Harold Winfield of Fairfield Glade in the last round to take top honors with 3.5 points. Cladd D money was split between James N. Hughes of Charleston and David Bertram of Allardt with 3.0 points each. Former Cocke County High School player, David Sands, took the Class E money with 2.5 points, and Guy Thompson of Crossville and James M. Hughes of Charleston tied for the unrated prize with 3 points each.

The computer doing the paring made sure all family members had to face each other by pairing brother and sister in Round 2 and father and son in Round 3. Sisir Botta won over his sister, Vandana, and James N. Hughes (son) beat James M. Hughes (father) knocking him out of winning the unrated prize outright.

In spite of the fact that the Music City Club scheduled their summer tournament on the same date, 30 players opted to come to Fairfield Glade instead, including three from Nashville. The tournament was directed by Ron harvill and Nancy Hughes for the Cumberland County Chess Club.

PROBLEM CORNER

What is White's quickest way to mate?
Answer page 11.

ANNOTATED GAME

(By Leonard Dickerson)

This game is a pure example of black-square domination. It demonstrates the dangers of falling behind in development to win insignificant material. It also represents the quickest mate (not win) that I have executed against a master.

White: Neil Harris 2216 Black: Leonard Dickerson 2160

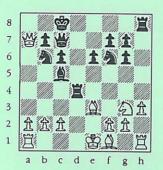

1994 Cumberland County Summer Open

Round 3; Game in 60

Two Knights Variation of Caro-Kann

1.e4 c6 2.Nc3 d5 3.Nf3 de4 (In the Two Knights variation, Black normally proceeds with Bg4. However, I wanted a different type of game. With the knight on f3, I figure that a Bronstein-Larsen variation would be ideal.) 4.Ne4 Nf6 5.Qe2 Bg4 (If 5...Nxe; 6.Qxe Nd; 7.Bc4 Nf6; 8.Qe2 Bf5, Black has only a slight inferiority. But I felt that this was probably one of the main lines, and, since I was not familiar with the line, wanted to avoid it.) 6.h3 Bh5 (Now I could swap two pieces if I wanted to diffuse a White attack. However I believe that White would keep a nagging edge late into the middle game because of possessing the two bishops. Too, in the previous round, Harris warned me of his endgame skill by outplaying Ellis Jones with opposite-colored bishops. Hence I did not want to prematurely enter the endgame.) 7.Ng3 Bg6 (This bishop maneuver was not bad. It took three moves to arrive at g6; however, the White knight also took three moves to get to g3--and it has less scope.) 8.Ne5 Nbd7 (8... e6 might be stronger since it would force White to make a decision about his piece placement. But 8...Bxc? now would be awful, as 9. Nxf would devastate me. My move keeps the knight from getting cozy at e5.) 9.Ng6 hg6

10.d4 Qc7 11.Bd2 O-O-O 12.Qc4 e6 13.Qa4 (White would have maintained a slight plus had he castled on move 12 or 13. Now, safe for Black is 13...Kb8. But I saw that I could possibly strand the White king in the center and possibly trap the Queen. Anyway, the d-pawn has to be worth more than my a-pawn.) 13...Nb6!? 14.Qa7 Rd4 15.Be3 Bc5! [diagram]

(This is the key move of the sequence. It is possible because I am better developed, and the White queen is out of play.) 16.Bd4 Bd4 17.Ne2 (If 17.c3 Bxf+; 18.Kxf Qf4+; 19.Ke2 Nfd5! And now if (a) 20.Rd1 Qe3 mate; (b) 20.Qa3 Nc4 wins; (c) 20.c4 Qe3+; 21.Kd1 Rd8 wins. If instead, 17. Rd1 Qf4 threatens f2 and gets at least the exchange back. The move made was best.) 17...Bb2 (And here I cowardly offered a draw. I knew I was doing well, but I kept seeing final positions of my queen versus his two rooks. Objectively, though, probably the worst that can occur from such an event would be a draw. Whatever, not seeing the danger, he declined anyway.) 18.Rb1 Qe5 19.f3 (White does not respond with his best. He should try Qxb6, preparing to give up his queen for the rook when it checks at d8: 19.Qxb6 Bc3+; 20.Kd1 Rd8+; 21.Qxd8 Kxd8; 22.Nxc3 Qxc3; 23.Bd3 and Black has a plus because the rooks are uncoordinated -- for now!) 19...Bc3+ (All variations lead to mate now.) 20.Kf2 Qc5+ 21.Kg3 Be5+ 22.f4 (If 22.Nf4 Nh5+ also mates. This is a textbook example of Black square domination.) 22...Qe3+ 23.Kh2 Ng4 mate.

11111111

SOLUTION TO THE PROBLEM CORNER (See page 9.):

1.Re1+ Kd6 2.Be7+ 3.Qb4+ Kd7 4.Qxe7 mate. (This was developed from an idea presented in ChessTactician's Handbook by IM John Grefe.

NEWS RELEASE

(Submitted by Nancy Hughes)

June 4th was quite a busy day at Hopewell Elemetary School in Cleveland, TN. Sixty-three scholastic players and their parents converged on the school early Saturday morning to participate in the 5 round swiss tournament and play in the simul with the new TN GM Sam Palatnik. After introductions of GM Palatnik, his daughter, Olga, and Dr. Dick Katahn, the tournament began. During the first three rounds, Sam observed the games in progress and was able to offer comments later in the day to the players. At the lunch break GM Palatnik gave a demonstration for the group, highlighting moves from some the the morning games. He also presented the Grand Masters Best Game Trophy to Jim Hughes. Parents and coaches had a chance to meet and talk with Sam at a welcoming reception during the last round of play. After the presentation of trophies and certificates most of the players participated in the Grand Master Simul. Many on the areas of TN from Nashville, Oak Ridge, Maryville, Athens, and Cleveland were represented as well as AL and MS.

MORE ON YOUNGEST U.S. MASTER

(By R. Hudgens)

It was with great interest his writer had as he read the item in the April/May issue of the TCN about Jordy Mont-Reynaud. Jordy was the National Primary Champion in Knoxville in 1992. It has been my privilege for the past two years to so some coaching for elementary students in Nashville. So, as I see the tremendous achievement of an eight year old (Jordy's age at the time in Knoxville) I am again reminded of the awesome potential of elementary school players. Here is the final round game in Knoxville between Jordy and a young lady from Arizona. (From the California Chess Journal, June/July 1992.)

White: Jordy Mont-Reynaud (1762) Black: Andrea Peterson (1500) Caro-Kann [B12] (Annotated by Jordy Mont-Reynaud)

1.e4 c6 2.d4 d5 3.e5 Bf5 4.Bd3

The way White played in days of yore, sixty years ago or so, Capablanca maybe.

4...Bg6?

4...Bxd3!

5.Bxg6

5.e6 is equally strong.

5...hxg6 6.e6!

Crashing through and breaking us Black's kingside. Everything is messy now — lots of weaknesses. All of this game revolves around this pawn move.

6...f6

Black's kingside is strangled.

7.Qg4 g5

14/ Tennessee Chess News

Forced.

8.Qf5

Threatening mate in one.

8...Qd6!

Black is threatening Rxh2, Qxh2 with advantage.

9..Nf3 Nh6 10.Qg6+ Kd8 11.Kf1

I didn't want to play 11.O-O, castling into an open rook file, because then Black might get a wild attack. 11.Kfl is better than 11.Kdl Qxe6 12.Nxg4 Qg4+ threatening the pawn at d4.

11...c5 12.dxc5 Qxc5 13.Qd3 Nc6 14.Be3 Qd6 15.Nc3

White's King position is somewhat better and White at least can develop all his minor pieces.

15...Nb4 16.Qd2 Qxe6 17.a3 Nc6 18.Nxd5 Qd6 19.Rd1 Ke8 20.Qe2 Qb8 21.Qb3 Kf7 22.Bxg5?! fxg5 23.Nxg5+ Kg8 1-0.

And Black forfeits on time.

Amazingly, there is no forced mate, even though the position looked like it demanded one! But, winning is 24.Nb6 and if ...axb6, Qd5 leads to mate; otherwise, White wins the exchange after Nxa8.

We at the TCA and those at the USCF, your local clubs and TDs are all here just for one thing, ... to promote Chess — for fun, education, art, etc. Let's all pull together. Look what has happened in Tennessee to the Scholastic program! This growth only occurred due to cooperation and hard work on the part of the chess players and chess lovers in Tennessee.

Keep up the good work, fellow TCA members! Without you and your cooperation, there would be no regular chess in Tennessee.

Thanks!!!

THE GAMBIT PLAYER

(By Richard Westbrook)

Just when you thought it was safe to pick up a Tennessee Chess News and not be subjected to more "Diemerism," you're hit with another dose! This game was obtained from the "information superhighway" late last year. I'm passing it along to the membership for several reasons. First, it is an interesting game, in many ways typical of the devastating attacks which occur in almost all lines of the opening. Second, the winners chest-pounding is also typical of Diemer proponents. Third, if any of you are tempted, the winner provides the electronic address for a Diemer "newsgroup." Without further ado (notes by Yeates):

"Why play the Blackmar-Diemer? Because 1) most good players don't wimp out with a Kings Indian set up since they 'know' the BDG is unsound. 2) Unless Black knows what they're doing, they easily can go astray.

"This victory capped of a 5-0 win of my club's tournament and puts me over the 2000 mark.

"When I started the newsgroup alt.chess.bdg a year or so ago, somebody asked me if the newsgroup was for chess bondage! Maybe they weren't far off. You can almost hear black screaming 'Hurt me, Hurt me' during this game.

Mathew Yeates - McNoughton (2065)

1.d4 Nf6 2.f3 d5 3.e4 dxe4 4.Nc3 exf3 5.Nxf3 c5 6.Bf4 cxd4 Shiller only gives 6.d5 but the gambit keybook gives a few games with Bf4. 7.Nb5 Qa5 Nope 7...Na6 8.Nd5. 8.b4 Qxb4 9.c3 Qc5 10.Nc7 Kd8 11.Rc1 Nd5 12.cxd4 Qa5 13.Bd2 Qxc5 14.Rxc7 Kxc7 While material is approx equal white has a huge lead in development 15.Bc4 e6 16.Ne5 Be7 17.Nxf7 Rf8 18.O-O Nc6 19.Qe1 Nxd4 aiming for a cheapo skewer of the queen and king but it fails 20.Qe5 Kc6 21.Bxd5 exd5 22.Qxe7 1-0."

Once again, when the BDG works, it works well and quickly! While you might not wish to venture the BDG in a rated tournament game, it is loads of fun to spring on opponents while playing blitz or skittles. Remember, think f3!
